PRESENTATION OF AN ADDRESS

Admiral Sir Nowell Salmon, V.C., was presented with an address in the City Hall this afternoon, on the occasion of his leaving the China Station. There was a large gathering at the ceremony, including a considerable number of ladies.

Hou. J. J. Keswick, who made the presentation, said—Admiral Salmon, the renon Tuesday, January 13th, at 2 a.m., son of the many friends whom you see

K.C.B. Sir,—Ere you leave these seas over which, as Admiral of Her Britannic Majesty's Eastern Fleet, you have watched for the last three years, we wish to record the pleasure that is afforded us of expressing the kindly sentiments which, during your stay in the East, we have entertained towards you, and the regret that we feel in your approaching departure. It is a grate-fu' remembrance to know, now that you are leaving us, that our mutual intercourse has always rested on a friendly foundation, to any efforts of ours. Hongkong is on the eve of its Jubilee, and before the expiration of many hours we shall be celebrating that event. In the progress of the Island, from the time when Great Britain first assumed its ownership, and proclaimed it an appendage to her Crown, England's Royal Navy has been a potent factor. If during the last fifty years our Colony has advanced its population, if it has extended the scope of its commerce and increased its wealth, it must be admitted that a sense of security, engendered by the presence of Her Majesty's Fleet, has tended to this success.

Member as you are of an honorable and distinguished Profession, it could not but

It is a matter of great regret to me that I should be leaving just on the eve of your Jubilee celebration, but unfortupe stely the orders under which I am goting were given to me before I was aware of your arrangements. However, I shall leave some representatives of the Navy behind who I hope will take part in the celebrations and rejoice with you. (Applause) I think your prosperity for the last fifty years has been perfectly astounding, and I hope it will continue, although if it does go on at the same rate you will want a bigger island. It is very fortunals that during my command peace should have reigned throughout the Eastern seas. think it is very fortunate for commerce that such has been the case, because there cannot be any question about it that should we ever be at war with any naval power commerce must suff r. most be interrupted: the Suez Canal is quite sure to be interrupted for a time, and until this communication could be restored general commerce throughout the East would be interrupted, no matter how important and ably-commanded the naval force might be. I wished the naval force here to he stronger; still we have made some steps in advance, and I think the ships composing the present squadrou will compare very favourably with those that were here when I first came out -I mean as regards the class of ships. have been congenial to your mind if during your command in China, you had experienced more stirring operations than it has been your lot to know. Fortunately, however, during that period our relations with other Great Powers have been pacific. and in these waters at least, the watchword has been Peace. Yet none the less do we acknowledge the grave responsibilities that at all times attach themselves to the high office which you are now relinquishing, none the less do we realise that, had hostile eventualities demanded your attention, the interests of our Community and of British subjects throughout the Far East would have been, under your guidance, as efficiently safe-guarded as they have been in the past. The records of your career assure. us of this, recalling amongst their earlier scenes Lucknow's evential history of November 1856, when you won the Victoria Cross. The story of a gallant action survives time itself, and in the incident of the Indian Mutiny, one of the most glorious, if one of the most distressful annals of British rule in India, you found the honor that has since associated itself with

THE HONGKONG MARINA COMPANY.

A-meeting of the shareholders of this company was called to-day at the Hongkong Hotel for the purpose of considering certain proposals by the directors with respect to the future of the company. As there was not a quorum present, however, the meeting was adjourned.

Mr Hancock, the Chairman, said-Gentle, men, innamuch as there are not 20 shareholders present, our meeting cannot be held to-day. I regret this very much as the directors were prepared to meet you with definite proposals of very considerable importance to the shareholders, and it is a matter of the greatest importance that these proposals which we have to place before you should be considered at once. To-day it is quite useless for me to state any particulars, but between this and the next meeting, which will be held a week hence, we shall probably circulate a printed statement to the shareholders, and I hope we shall have the necessary quorum here at next meeting. I feel sure that when you have heard our statement and the if they can get them. proposals we have to put before you, you will see a light through the darkness which surrounds the company's affairs for the

GERMANY WILL DEPORT HER CRIMINALS. Berlin, December 14. -It is proposed to colonize our newly acquired African possessions with criminals taken from the prisons of the Fatherland. The idea has been favorably entertained in influential Royal Hensehold. quarters, and may now be considered as a wattled one, for which the assent of the Reichstag has only to be asked to be had. Such of our criminals as are found worthy to be the seed of the great German African empire of the future will receive allot ments of a certain quantity of land in their new sphere and means for making it profitable. GERMANY'S SCHOOLS—THE EMPEROR SAYS THEY ARE CONDU-TED ON A PALSE

Berlin, December 6.- The Reichs Anzeiger gives passages from Emperor William's recent speech on school reform. One point the Emperor especially emphasizes is the time lost in the higher patic schools in cramming youths with Latin and Greek-Majesty's service, 1887, K.C.B. (addi- instead of the German language and Gertional member) 21st June, 1887, on the oc. man history, especially in the growth of casion of the celebration of the completion national unity. Modern history, he declared, if rightly taught, would become infinitely more valuable than the chronicles of antiquity. How, he asks, were to many young Germans seduced from the path of political virtue? How was it Germany produced reformers of society, so many men nagging at their own Government while commending the governments of other nations? It was simple ignorance arising from defective education on the genesis of modern Germany. The higher schools must mend their methods. They must make atudies bear upon practical life; reduce the boys' book work and give more time for healthy recreation and training to the body. The present system tended toward the overproduction of highly educated people. Journalists, he said, were high school products run to seed. He approved the saying of Bismarck anent the arbiturienten proletariat, whom he called ' hunger candidates, and from which the ranks of journalism were largely recruited, forming a class dangerous to society. Finally he declared he would not liceuse any more high schools until their methods were amended. The newspapers generally sharply resent the Emperor's reference to journalists. The National Gazette says that instead of their being ' hunger candidates' many high state officials are only too willing to exchange their posts for positions on the press HOW THE EMPEROR SPENDS HIS MONEY.

Berlin, December 7. - Reports have been widely circulated for some time past that the Kaiser's personal finances have been hopelessly involved by his own reckless expenditures, and it has even been reported that he had to borrow 25,000,000 marks from the banker Herr Von Bleichroeder, on his note of hand. These reports are all rubbish.
